I drank so much gin last night
I've woken up with a London Dry accent.

Gin Tonic 13,00€

Brockmans Premium Gin (England)

„When it should or should not be drunk. Or how it should be drunk.
Who should or should not drink it.
And where said drinking should be done.“

Illusionist Gin (Germany)

„A hint of licorice, earthy-spicy mace, fruity citrus zest -
and all in a unique blue hue that undergoes a fascinating color change. Distilled in a pot still and filled into black Art Nouveau bottles. Let yourself be enchanted by the Illusionist Dry Gin!“

1928 Dry Gin (Luxembourg)

„10 botanicals give our 1928 Dry Gin its extraordinary taste.
It took us 6 months to develop the recipe with juniper berries, lavender, coriander, hibiscus....
we also brought in a lot of experience and passion.“

Huel en Gin (Luxembourg)

„If you want red pepper berries with peppermint and rose in a gin,
then you need to create the perfect recipe.
And we have done that.
Also here you will find a recipe from 10 different botanicals.“

Opyos Sloe Gin (Luxembourg)

„Sloe Gin results from several months of maceration of hand-picked blackthorn fruits in our award-winning Opyos Luxembourg Dry Gin.
The result is a wonderfully balanced aroma palette, characterized by subtle sweet almond notes and seductive fruit aromas, which are expressed in its velvety texture and warm violet color.“

Wakelter Gin (Luxembourg)

„47%vol; London Dry Gin - distilled and bottled in Eislek unfiltered; contains only the burner core“

Tamar Gin (Luxembourg)

„An exotic and unforgettable experience that captures the essence of the revered Palm Tree, "Tamar" (Hebrew : תְּמָר).“

Knott and Shott got into a gunfight.
Knott was shot and Shott was not.
Therefore it was better to be Shott than Knott.
But what if the shot Shott shot didn't hit Knott but Shott?
Then the shot Shott shot shot Shott.
